DRUMMOND'S STORE.

"I WAS there—at Verdun—in October, 1918—and the Salvation Army was my best bet.

"We'd been in the front line 36 hours. We had moved so fast our kitchens were lost and had no 'chow.' 'Zero hour' was set for 5:30 next morning. We 'went over,' and after three hours in No Man's Land a machine gun bullet got me in the leg.

"Litter bearers of Co. I, 127th Infantry, picked me up. On the way back, before we reached the first aid regimental dressing station, they put the litter on the ground, just behind our old front line, and a Salvation Army man gave me doughnuts, good hot coffee and cigarettes. And, let me tell you, high explosive and gas shells were falling mighty thick around us!

"It was the first food I'd had in 39 hours. The pain was fierce, and I was bleeding a lot. The doughnuts, coffee and smokes did more than simply put new life into me. The Salvation Army was my best bet.

"As I lay on the litter waiting for the ambulance all I could think of was how good the coffee and smokes tasted—my own tobacco was too bloody to smoke.

"All of us knew the Salvation Army was behind us. They were real folks, and we knew we wouldn't have to ask for help if we needed it. We knew we could count on them, and believe me, it kept up our spirits,

"I sure wish I could get out and root for the Salvation Army and tell you about them instead of writing."

What Goes Into the Well Comes Out in the Bucket

And it is the same with men's and boys' clothes. You getout of them exactly what has been put in them - nothing more.

Cheap linings, poor tailoring and cotton fabrics will show up in the wear, and, of course, that isn't going to make you very happy.

All of this is just another way of telling you that when you are out for a good suit or anything worn by man or boy you ought to come to FISH'S for it.

We can't give you someting for nothing.

We can, however, give you the best men's and young men's suits at $15 to $20, and boy's suits $5 to $20, that you have ever laid eyes upon. We call them

How Are You Going to Keep'Em on the Farm? ANSWER: With Electric Lights

Delco-Lights Makes the Farm Home More Attractive to the Girl or Boy

When Delco-Light is instaled there is no longer as great incentive for the son or daughter to go to the city. Its conveniences are brought to their home in the country.

The daughter can have electric lights in her room, an electric curling iron and all other comforts that are so much desired by young woman. It makes the chores easier for the son and provides power for operating labor saving tools.

Delco-Light so modernizes the farm home that it brings cheer and satisfaction to every member of the family.

If you are desirous of bringing your home up to date and of giving your wife and family a real home, with lights, bath, running water, etc., get in touch with
